COMMENTS:

I approve of the concept of a public meeting as this seems the only course of action/direction the Board seems willing or able to take at the moment. In order for this to be productive, however, there should be some pre-work done to include specific topics/agenda items to be discussed related to the explicit and implicit recommendations mentioned in the proposed action. As the NAPA report indicates that the organizational restructuring adopted by the Board in August and put on hold by Congress could magnify the challenges outlined in the report, a good first step prior to the meeting would be a vote to rescind that decision. Then, with a clean slate, and adhering to the proposed best practices of a deliberative body, the Board could begin afresh to outline a strategic plan and then analyze its current structure as related to strategic objectives and begin to formulate a staffing plan commensurate with its mission.

I remain optimistic that if Board Members are committed to the process of addressing the underlying dysfunctions facing the organization, and not just the cosmetic or structural challenges, the Board could begin to improve its productivity, regain its prestige, and become one of the best places to work in the Federal Government.
